RULES GOVERNING THE USE OF MATERIALS

1. PERMISSION TO EXAMINE: Permission to examine materials will be granted to all persons who complete this application form, provide valid identification (preferably a driver's license or UConn ID), and agree to abide by the following rules and regulations. Permission is granted subject to restrictions that may have been placed on the material by its donors or depositors. Access to unprocessed collections or unprocessed portions of partially processed collections will be at the discretion of the department. In certain cases, researchers may be required to use reference copies when they are available. Researchers should complete a separate call slip for each group of materials.

2. PROTECTION OF MATERIALS: Readers are required to leave coats, briefcases, purses, laptop cases and other personal belongings in lockers provided. Only pencils, note paper, laptops, and film/digital cameras may be taken into the reading room. Eating and drinking are prohibited. Cell phone ringers must be set to mute or vibrate. All belongings taken into the reading room are subject to inspection by the staff.

3. USE OF MATERIALS: The researcher is responsible for safeguarding any materials made available for use. Make sure materials rest fully on the work surface, turn pages from the top of the document. Materials may not be leaned on, written on, folded, traced, or handled in any way likely to damage them. Readers are asked to handle papers carefully, maintaining their established order in folders and notifying a staff member if papers are misfiled or if a date is believed to be inaccurate. Materials should be carefully replaced in the folders so that edges do not protrude. Folders should be kept in order in the boxes. Materials no longer needed should be returned to the reference desk.

4. PERMISSION TO PUBLISH: Permission to examine materials is not an authorization to publish from them. A separate written application for permission to publish must be made to Archives and Special Collections identifying the items to be published. Further permissions to publish must be obtained from the owner(s) of the copyright. Researchers who plan eventual publication of their work should inquire about possible copyright restrictions. Each researcher must assume full responsibility for any legal questions that may arise as a result of use of materials. A free copy of all publications is to be presented to the Library as soon as the work is published. Exclusive rights to examine or publish materials will not be granted.

5. REPRODUCTION: Archives and Special Collections will consider requests by separate application for the reproduction of limited amounts of material when copyright restrictions permit and when such duplication can be made without injury to the material. Reproduction services are provided, although researchers may use their own film/digital cameras in the reading room. Reproductions must not be further copied or made available to another researcher. Supplying or obtaining a reproduction is not an authorization to publish.

6. CITATION: The location of materials quoted or referred to in published or unpublished papers should be accurately and precisely noted. Researchers should use this format for citations:

I hereby request permission to examine material held by Archives and Special Collections, University of Connecticut Libraries. In consideration of my being granted permission to examine material on the terms set forth above, I agree to indemnify and hold harmless the University of Connecticut and its officers, employees, and agents from and against all claims and actions arising out of my use of the material. I have read the rules for use of materials and agree to abide by them.
